VOL. XIX. HUNTINGDON, PA., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 1, 1864. NO. 49.

HUNTINGDON, PA.

Letter from the Battle-Field.

On the banks of Po river, Ten miles south of Frederick city, May 17, 1864

DEAR UNCLE:—It is with the greatest pleasure I seat myself to-day to give you a detailed account of my adventures since I left Huntingdon.—When I left you it was my intention to visit Uncle James at Northumberland. When I arrived at Newport I found that I could not get across to the Susquehanna until the next day I arrived at Drummonds on Sunday p m and found I was too late to get to Northumberland, so I staid there until Monday, when I left for Washington. I arrived at the regiment on the 27th ult. and on the 28th was on duty. On the 29th we left our camp (which was near Bristoe) and marched to Catlett; the sun was very hot, and we were all very much fatigued. Next morning we started before day and crossed the Rappahannock about noon on a pontoon bridge. We arrived near Culpepper in the evening and went into camp, where we lay until the morning of the 4th inst. when the whole army started on the present terrible campaign.

We crossed the Rapidan about three P M and marched to near the Wilderness Inn, where we camped for the night. Next morning (May 5th) we marched to Lacey's farm, where we formed a line of battle. I never saw men in better spirits than they were that morning; men who were confirmed stragglers heretofore appeared as jovial as if they were going to a ball. There was some skirmishing by the bucktails in the forenoon, but it was light. About 1 P M the skirmishers notified us that the enemy were advancing. We changed our line of battle to the right, and prepared for a charge. I was given command of fifty men of my own company and ordered to deploy them at intervals of ten paces and skirmish on the left of the brigade, which I did, ordering my men to advance. They soon became engaged. I then closed the intervals to five paces and connected with the left of the battalion. Col McCandless then ordered a charge of the 7th, 11th, and 2d Reserves, which was obeyed with a will. I kept on the flank with my skirmishers till the regiments charged clear through the rebel line, when the enemy threw a line of battle through the right of my skirmishers, and around the left of the regiments. The 11th and 2d seeing the predicament they were in charged to the rear, and, breaking the surrounding party, got out; the 7th fought long and well, but could not get out. I tried to rally on the battalion, but it was no use. About 11 of my men were lost before I got out of the Wilderness, which piece of strategy I accomplished about 4 P M after some of the gayest manœuvering ever heard of in this army.

I went into camp in rear of the rifle pits, and reported to Col McCandless for duty with 44 men. He ordered me to take my place in line as a regiment and to sign all reports as commanding officer of the 7th regiment.—That night we rested, and if ever men needed it we did.

May 6th. We arose early in the morning and moved in line of battle about three hundred yards in advance of the rifle pits, the 2d brigade driving the enemy before them. We lay under fire, i e, a skirmish fire, about three hours, when our brigade (1st) withdrew to the pits. The enemy then advanced on the 3d brigade, but were repulsed. In that affair we suffered the loss of Col Dare of the 5th and Col Ayres of the 10th—both gallant officers and patriots. During the night we lay in rifle pits with the exception of about two hours that we were on the double quick reinforcing Sedgwick's line.

May 7th. We were manœuvering around all day, from one point to another, as a kind of flying division of infantry, and during the evening were under a very heavy artillery fire. Gen Hancock fighting all day on the left That night we started on the plank road in rear of Hancock's men, and after one of the hardest marches on record arrived about six miles south of Chancellorsville where we found Sheridan's cavalry had had an engagement and held the enemy in check. Our division was thrown immediately on the rebel pits, when two thirds of the men were in the rear, and of course we were repulsed with some loss. I lost 1 man of my little party, wounded badly. We charged again and were again repulsed. I lost two more men. Then the order came to rest until the main army came up, and rest we did. In the evening we charged again and drove the enemy, so that we got a good position and held it.—On the 9th we threw up a rifle pit and lay behind it all day. Sharpshooters firing all day.

May 10th. In the morning we were saluted by a couple of rebel shells being thrown over our heads. We lay quiet till about the middle of the afternoon when we charged and were repulsed, charged again and held our ground. I lost four more of my little party, wounded, and had the horrors myself. We laid in the woods among the dead and dying all night.

Next morning (11th) I thanked the Almighty for preserving me so far, for I do think Providence had something to do with my getting safely through. We laid all day on the 11th in a rifle pit which we built ourselves. A rebel sharpshooter got on a tree and done some sad work in our line till one of the Bucks got range of him, and his shooting was over. We laid in that pit under fire till night when we moved farther to the left, and laid down in the mud and rain to sleep.

May 12th. In the morning when I awoke there was a terrible musketry fire going on. I jumped up and at one glance I saw the enemy (thinking to surprise us) had charged the pits, but the boys were not as sound asleep as I was and gave them several volleys that sent them reeling back to their own works, perfectly satisfied that Yanks could fight as well in rifle pits as they could. We laid under a pretty heavy fire all the rest of that day; changed our position in the evening and slept in a mud hole all night.

Next morning (13th) the Johnny Rebs opened on us pretty sharply.—Warren ran out the Berdan sharp shooters and they soon made the rebs haul in their horns. They next opened on us with artillery and made the pines jingle for a short time around our heads but hurt no person. During the night we started on a march and it rained hard and the mud was knee deep. We marched till eight in the morning when we halted near here; I reported ten men with myself for duty in the 7th Regt. P R C. For ten days we had been under fire during the day, and either under fire or marching at night. I had lost eight gallant boys wounded out of the few I brought out of the first engagement, and as for myself I was completely "played out."

Since then we have laid pretty quiet and I have recruited my little band up to forty seven men, musicians and all.

We lost heavily in general officers and some of the best ones at that.—The whole army mourn the loss of the gallant Sedgwick. Col McCandless, commanding our brigade, was wounded; he was a good man.

Col Sam Jackson of the 11th is commanding our brigade at present; he is an excellent man. Better men than Generals Warren, Meade, Grant, Hancock and Burnside do not live in our day. The two latter have done some of the best work on record in this campaign. I do not know who Sedgwick's successor will be; some say Wright, and others say Crittenden; either are good men, and will win laurels in command of the Sixth Corps.

Eleven days I was commander of the regiment. Yesterday there was a Captain (King) who was home recruiting, came and relieved me of my command, and I tell you I was pleased to see him come, for I am really tired of being Colonel, Quarter Master, Doctor and everything else myself.

Capt Robinson and Lieut Robinson (brothers) came to me yesterday and I was glad to see them, as they were among the prisoners the first day and made their escape that same night.—They passed in rear of the whole rebel army and after a day and night tramp through wildernesses and swamps and swimming rivers, they swam the Rappahannock ten miles east of Fredericksburg, and made the Potomac to their great joy in time to see the Fort Monroe boat, and get aboard of it.—They say the rebs were very good to them, but they could not see it to go to Libby without making an effort to escape. They made the effort and are safe. Captain Robinson is before the Generals to day giving them an account of his escape.

I have more company now, and almost as much to do as before, as Capt. King has appointed me his acting Adjutant.

Since we have been laying here I have been looking around a little, and the only Huntingdon man I have heard of being killed was Merritts Hawn. I saw Bill Ambrose, Cyrus Swoope, Bill S Decker, and Co G of the Fifth yesterday. They were all well. Co G had several wounded but none that I knew killed.

It is hard to tell if there will be any more fighting for a few days; for my part I am tired, and want rest. I approve of Genl Grant quelling the rebellion this summer, but he has been quelling it entirely too fast for me during the last two weeks. I would rather he would make several bites at the cherry than to try to swallow it whole.

We have lost heavily, but we have severely punished the enemy; he is laying at rest, but it is an old saying that "a stag at bay is a dangerous foe;" so we have to be wary. If the Lord is on our side, as I am sure He is, the victory will yet be ours, not saying it is not already ours, for we have gained every point we struck for, and baffled the wily Lee in all his manœuvres.

I have not been well for a couple of days, and you must pardon this disconnected rigmarole, as it is the best description of the campaign I can give you at present. We have not received a mail since we started, but expect that correspondence will be allowed before long.

I remain, very respectfully your obt. nephew, W. H. DIEFFENBACH.

Immense Strawberry Crop.

The Rochester Democrat says: "A single fact which has come to our knowledge relating to the strawberry crop of the past season will doubtless astonish many of our readers. A prominent fruit grower in Western New York, from a single patch of sixteen acres, sent to market sixteen hundred bushels strawberries of the Wilson Seedling and Triomphe de Gand varieties. The entire crop sold at an average price of one shilling per quart realizing the snug sum of five thousand dollars as the product of sixteen acres of ground. We doubt whether any other sixteen acres in Western New York have yielded the like sum as the result of a single crop. This may be taken as an instance of the profitableness of thoroughly scientific fruit growing.

THE CHILD'S PRAYER.

BY MAGNET.

Softly sunset's crimson ray,
Faded in the glowing west,
As a fair child knelt to pray,
Ere she passed to peaceful rest;
With her meek eyes raised above,
Filled with innocence and love.

Fair and lovely was her face,
Shaded by her golden hair,
Beaming with a quiet grace,
As she lisped her evening prayer
In a low and reverent tone,
To the High and Holy One.

"Father, Thou who reign'st in Heaven,
Hallowed be Thy holy name;
Let our sins be all forgiven,—
Cleanse our souls from guilt and shame;
Let Thy blessed kingdom come,
And Thy holy will be done."

Gen. Grant in Camp.

A Sketch of his Personal Habits, &c.

A letter writer has been furnished by a military friend, who had just passed some days at the headquarters in Culpepper, with an account of his visit and of the habits of the Lieutenant General. The details which he gives relate to the personal habits of Genl. Grant. They mark and individualize the man with whom rests much of the power to affect for weal or woe the future of this country. Gen. Grant, says the writer, messes with his staff in a house in the village; and at his table sits familiarly every member of his military family. The expenses of the mess are divided among the ten, not equal proportions exactly, but in a manner that is satisfactory to all. There is not the slightest attempt at show or parade in the furniture and equipage; everything is for use and economy of trouble and space. The crockery is scanty and of the plainest, and the fare, though sufficient in quantity, is just as homely as that of any thrifty and careful mechanic in your city. A chop with a cup of coffee for breakfast; a bit of roast beef with potatoes and "hard tack," confronting a dish of pork and "greens," served for the five o'clock dinner, which was concluded without pastry or dessert; a cup of tea and a bit of bread and butter at half past eight o'clock, finished up the day. The beds were simply camp cots, some with and others without mattresses; and all the toilet apparatus anywhere visible were a few tin wash basins; a moderate supply of towels, a bit of looking glass, and a horn comb. At the table neither distilled liquor nor wine is permitted. The General will not have either about him, for his own or others' use.

The inventory of the General's baggage when he made his brilliant campaign in the rear of Vicksburg is, I take it, well remembered—a briarwood telescope and a tooth brush. In what relates to personal adornment, and outside of the necessity of eating and drinking, personal comfort, he has not greatly enlarged his possessions. His three stars indicate his exalted rank, but to say nothing of the charm which, in soldiers' eyes, these glittering marks of rank possess, I doubt if there is a commissariat officer in his army who is as plainly clad as he. His clothes are worn threadbare, and despite the steady brushing of his servant, they will have an untidy look, due, no doubt, to the General's habit of going everywhere and seeing everything for himself. The General understands the relation between cleanliness and godliness; but in his opinion, practically evinced, there is as much of either in a flannel shirt as in one of linen of drawing room immaculateness.

Your readers are not to suppose that I am describing a careless or indolent man, or one who does not know the difference between the garb of a gentleman and that of a sloven. The facts are pointed out only as proof that this man's mind is so intent upon the great problem before him, that he has neither the time nor the inclination to consider miserable frivolities. He holds a great nation's fate in the palm of his hands; and it is an encouragement to know that every faculty of his mind is calmly but profoundly expressed for the National welfare. All his thought of carriage centres in the carriages which bear his field pieces; his discussion of the question of eating extends no further than to the rations of his men; and he would hate himself if he could spend a minute over the fit or fashion of his coat.

General Grant never swears. No man in his camp has ever heard him give utterance to profanity in any of its many forms. He rarely laughs, either; but he has a sort of grim humor which is not without its effect. It is related as a part of the gossip of "the front," that an officer attached to the Quartermaster's Department of his army wanted one wet day to consult with the General-in-Chief. He is a believer in the old regime, and practised what, under McClellan, he was taught. He had half a dozen miles to go, more or less, so he ordered out his close carriage, and as it was likely that night would come before he could return, the lamps were trimmed and hung out on each side of the driver's seat. Then, with an escort of twelve dragoons, he started, happy, no doubt, in the belief that he was proof against the descending rain. Approaching Culpepper, he met an ordinary looking man on horseback, attended only by an orderly.

As he passed, he recognized the Lt. General, who, in spite of the rain, was making his usual round, in his usual modest way. To descend from his carriage and salute his chief was but the work of a moment; but Grant, irritated by the style and pretension of his officer, was in no hurry to see him gain the shelter of his carriage roof again. 'Walk along with me a little' said the General, 'I want to talk with you.' With polished boots and unexceptionable kids, Mr. Quartermaster did as he was bidden; and with a touch of that grimness to which I have referred, the General led him through the muddiest parts of the road, and did not release him till he was wet to the skin—as wet as the General himself. He was then dismissed with an admonition that will be remembered, though it was interlarded with no oaths.

Incidents of the Battles in Virginia.

(Correspondence of the N. Y. Tribune.)

GEN. HANCOCK AT THE WILDERNESS.—Always at the front when danger most threatened, ubiquitous, at one time leaning upon the breech of a blackened and hell-vomiting gun, instructing the gunners where to direct their fire, at another, along the infantry lines, encouraging the men, now ordering up reinforcements or making changes in the lines, and always exposed to the murderous fire of sharpshooters and the sweeping storm of shot and shell. "At one time, when he was directing the fire of a battery in the captured works, and when cannoneers and gunners were falling torn and mangled around him," said an officer to the writer yesterday, "I felt an almost irresistible impulse to approach him and say, 'General, for God's sake, retire to a less dangerous position!' Tall and portly, he must have made an excellent target for the enemy, but, fortunately for the country, to which his services are so invaluable, he escaped unscathed."

WE'LL RALLY ROUND THE FLAG, BOYS.—During one of those eventful nights, when the troops lay in line of battle behind their temporary fortifications of dirt, logs, and rails, and the continuous crack of the sharpshooter's rifle rolled along our front, a solitary voice struck up the patriotic song, "Rally round the flag, boys," and almost instantly thousands of men, who seemed to have been waiting for something to dissipate the gloom which thoughts of the day's carnage had engendered, were shouting in a chorus which "shook the depth of the forest's gloom:"

"The Union forever, hurrah, boys, hurrah!
Down with the traitors and up with the stars," &c.

As down the line it went, the refrain swelled into one vast roar, exultant, triumphant, and breathing defiance to the wary enemy, whose only reply was the spiteful whiz of extra bullets from their skirmish line whistling harmlessly by. This little episode tended greatly to inspire our troops, and could not but have equally irritated "Johnny Reb."

A BELLIGERENT CANINE.—A singular instance of doggish-hatred to "grybacks" is found in the case of the slut Sally, belonging to the 10th Massachusetts Volunteers. She has participated in every battle in which her regiments has been engaged, and seems to take great interest in the success of the blue jackets, to whom she is invariably kind and affectionate. But a, 'grayback' is her especial detestation, which she always exhibits by biting at them whenever they are brought within the reach of her chin. She accompanies the regiment on picket, but is always sufficiently discreet to keep within our lines, where she vents her rage by growling and snapping at the enemy's skirmishers. At the battle of Fredericksburg her leg was broken, and, after the wound was dressed by some kindhearted surgeon, Sally returned to the field on three legs, and doggedly refused to leave until the conclusion of the battle. This time she escaped unharmed and is ready at any moment to participate in the next engagement.

BARBER POLE.—Two girls were talking about balmoral stockings, when one asked the other how she liked the style.

"O, very well," she replied.

"Well, I don't," said the first; "and I'm not going to wear them, either; they don't catch me making a barber pole of my leg, just for the sake of being fashionable."

☞ Rents are enormous, as the poor fellow said when he looked at his coat.

Much Attached to the Marriage State.

It is usually considered a noteworthy circumstance for a man or woman to have been married three times; but of old this number would have been thought little of. St. Jerome mentions a widow that married her twenty-second husband, who in his turn had been married to twenty wives—surely an experienced couple.

A woman named Elizabeth Mazi, who died at Florence, 1763, had been married to seven husbands, all whom she outlived. She married the last of the seven at the age of seventy. When on her death bed she recalled the good and bad points in each of her husbands, and having impartially weighed them in the balance, she singled out her fifth spouse as her favorite, and desired that her remains be interred near his.

The death of a soldier is recorded in 1734, who had five wives; and his widow, aged 90, wept over the grave of her fourth husband. The writer who mentioned these facts naively added, "The said soldier was much attached to the marriage stage."

There is an account of a gentleman who had been married to four wives, and who lived to be 115 years old. When he died he left twenty-three "children" alive and well, some of said children being from three to fourscore years old.

A gentleman died at Bordeaux in 1772, who had been married sixteen times.

In July, 1763, a couple were living in Essex who had been married 81 years, the husband being 167 and the wife 103 years of age. At the Church of St. Clement Danes in 1772, a woman of 85 was married to her sixth husband.

HOME INFLUENCE.

How many parents are there who strive to exert an influence over their homes so as to make it attractive and pleasant to their children. Oh! how pleasant it is to see a family assembled around the fireside entertaining themselves by interesting and social conversation or by the perusal of some useful book. Oh! how many happy and profitable moments may be thus spent around the home fireside! But let us reverse the picture and we will find that children for want of amusement at home will go elsewhere to find it; perhaps their inclination may lead them to some public house, or, in plain words, the tavern. There are many persons who have ended their lives in prison or perhaps on the gibbet who had nothing to attract them to their homes in youth, and in consequence went from bad to worse until they became what we now picture them to be. But is there not some one to blame? Who is it? Parents, or children. Did you, parents, strive to adorn your home with attractions for your children that they might love and reverence it? We do not mean that you should have it adorned with rich furniture. Ah, no! We mean a cheerful, contented and happy face, cheerful and pleasant words. Parents, leave your sons go to the billiard saloons and other places of vice a few times and you will soon see that they become tired of home society.

It is almost heartrending to see the wickedness of the rising generation.—There is not a town to be found but there are a number of young men and boys who are regular visitors at drinking saloons. Parents, you would do well to train your sons in the path of duty and rectitude; for it is they who are to be our future philosophers and statesmen. G. J.

The Fruit Crop.

Too much vigilance cannot be exercised in ridding fruit trees of the enemies that are so destructive to both fruit and trees. We call the attention of the fruit growers of this section to the fact that in many places myriads of insects are making their appearance on the boughs and buds of apple trees, bidding fair to destroy the crop entirely, unless something be devised to destroy them. The insect is provided with wings, and is of a reddish color, but so small that the head of a pin would completely cover one of them. We see by some of our central New York exchanges, that many orchards are completely covered with them. We have not heard of their appearance as yet, and gardeners and fruit growers would do well to take steps to prevent it if possible by strong washes.

☞ Does it follow that because a babe is born rich it can at that particular moment stand a loan?

Why is the scalp like a yoke for a steer? Because there is an oxyput (occiput) inside it.

BALMORALS.

MR. EDITOR:—I observe that nearly every feminine who makes any pretention whatever towards belonging to the ton, wears the celebrated skirt, which bears the euphonious name of Balmoral! They are decidedly an institution with the feminines. How extremely anxious and solicitous the ladies are, (God bless their dear little souls) to show 'em to the impudent and vulgar gaze of the sterner sex! They float along the street as graceful as some passing zephyr, occasionally glancing downward to ascertain whether their dress is sufficiently elevated to give all beholders an opportunity to see the "stripes." I would respectfully recommend festoons to avoid the disagreeable necessity of holding up the dress. A servant might be usefully employed with a wand to remain at a respectable distance to point out Missy's new Balmoral. I never see one of the "critters" without experiencing a smile about the corners of our phiz, at the simplicity of the thing.—Vive la Balmoral! MAGNET.

SUNDAY SCHOOL COLUMN.

M. EDITOR.

Jesus said suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven.

Little Children.

In children are centred the hope of the church and the hope of the world. Those who are now the prattling infants of but a few years, will soon be the staid men and matrons who will be the most distinguished personages and fill the most important positions in both church and State. What then is of so much moment as to "train up a child in the way in which he should go." And where a better place to do this than in the sunday school?

Teachers, on you devolve great responsibilities. Into your hands are committed in a great measure the control of the future. It is yours to melt, to mould into form, to shape and to direct the young and plastic mind. The impressions you make may never be effaced; the words you utter will be remembered; the principles you inculcate will remain either to bless or to curse those of whom you now have the charge. See to it then that yours is a work that will bear the scrutiny of the great Judge Eternal, for his scrutiny it must undergo. Ask his aid and assistance, remembering that he has said, "if any man lack wisdom let him ask of God who giveth liberally unto all, and upbraideth not." Ask him to make you a blessing to the children that they may be a blessing to future generations. And that the church and the world may be the better for your having lived in them, bring the children to Jesus.

QUESTIONS FOR S. S. SCHOLARS.

Where do we find the first mention of Jerusalem in the bible?

Answers to this and other questions &c., and all communications addressed to M., and left at Lewis' Book Store, will be attended to. Let us hear from scholars and teachers.

Little Children.

I am fond of children (says a celebrated author.) I think them the poetry of the world—the fresh flowers of our hearths and homes—little conjurors, with their natural magic; evoking by their spells what delights and enriches all ranks, and equalizes the different classes of society. Often as they bring with them anxieties and cares, and live to occasion sorrow and grief, we should get on very badly without them. Only think—if there was never anything anywhere to be seen but great grown-up men and women! How we should long for the sight of a little child! Every infant comes into the world like a delegated prophet, the harbinger and herald of good tidings, whose office it is "to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children," and to draw "the disobedient to the wisdom of the just." A child softens and purifies the heart, warming and melting it by its gentle presence; it enriches the soul by new feelings, and awakens within it what is favorable to virtue. It is a beam of light, a fountain of love, a teacher whose lessons few can resist. Infants recall us from much that engenders and encourages selfishness, that freezes the affections, roughens the manners, induratos the heart; they brighten the home, deepen love, invigorate exertion, infuse courage, and vivify and sustain the charities of life. It would be a terrible world, I do think, if not embellished by little children.

Remember thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them.

Muscle and Brain.

Nature is a strict accountant; and if you demand of her in one direction more than she is prepared to lay out, she balances the account by making a deduction elsewhere. If you insist on premature or under-growth of any one part, she will, with more or less protest, concede the point; but that she may do your extra work, she must leave some of her more important work undone. In primitive times, when aggression and defense were the leading social activities, bodily vigor, with its accompanying courage, was the great desideratim; and then education was almost wholly physical; mental education was little cared for, and, indeed was often treated with contempt. But now that muscular power is of no use for little else than manual labor, while social success of nearly every kind depend very much on mental power, our education has become almost exclusively mental. Instead of respecting the body and ignoring the mind, we now respect the mind and ignore the body. Both these attitudes are wrong. We do not sufficiently realize the truth, that, in this life of ours, the physical underlies the mental, and the mental must not be developed at the expense of the physical. The ancient and modern conceptions must be combined.

GREAT CENTRAL FAIR!

For the Sanitary Commission, to be held in Philadelphia, in the first week of June next.

PHILADELPHIA, March, 19th, 1864.

Restaurant Department.

The co-operation of benevolent and patriotic citizens of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, and elsewhere, is invited, in our efforts to make this more remunerative than any Fair that has preceded it. These Fairs are resorted to as practical means offered to every one to take part in a great and humane work. Let no one, therefore, allow this opportunity to pass, of contributing something for the benefit of the National Soldier in the field; and though the gift may seem small when alone, it soon becomes efficient when combined with numbers. We ask for donations of any and every article, the produce of the Farm, Lake, River, and Ocean, and of foreign importation; of Fruits, fresh, dried, and preserved; of Vegetables; Chickens, Butter, Eggs, Beef, fresh and smoked, Tongues, Hams and Pork, Lobsters, Crabs, Oysters, Clams, Fish, fresh and salt. In truth, there is nothing which may contribute to the well being of our appetites, which may not be entrusted to our care.

GEORGE T. LEWIS, Chairman,
Restaurant Department.

The Soldiers' Aid Society of this place, having accepted the Agency in Huntingdon and neighborhood for the 'Restaurant Department' of the Central Fair, Philada.—solicits donations of provisions of all kinds from the citizens of town and country.

Let all aid in this great and good work—send a contribution however small—having the donor's name attached. If left with Mrs. Wm. McMurtrie or Mrs. E. Orbison, will be forwarded by the Society.

If any prefer forwarding their own contributions—send by railroad or express—freight will be paid in Philada.

Union County Convention.

By a resolution of the recent Union County Convention, June 14th next ensuing was the time fixed for holding the regular Convention to nominate a County Ticket, &c.

The Union men of Huntingdon County who desire cordially to unite in sustaining the National and State Administrations in the vigorous prosecution of the war against Rebels and Traitors, are requested to meet at the usual places of holding elections in the several Townships, Districts and Boroughs of the county on and elect two Delegates from each township, district and borough to meet in County Convention at Huntingdon on Tuesday, the 14th day of June, 1864, for the purpose of electing Congressional, Senatorial and Legislative Conferees, and placing in nomination a County Ticket &c.

Saturday, 11th day of June, 1864,

Polls to be opened in Townships and Districts from 5 to 7 o'clock, and in Boroughs from 6 to 8 o'clock P. M.

By order of the county committee.

Congress--Wm. Dorris, Jr.

MR. EDITOR:—As the question, Who shall be our next candidate for Congress in this district, seems to attract much attention at this time, as is evinced by the newspapers on the subject, I desire, as a citizen of the county, and an humble member of the Union party, to express my convictions, in common with many of my fellow-citizens with whom I have spoken on the subject, the imperative duty of the Union County Convention to present for the suffrages of the people at the ensuing fall election, a man with an untarnished record—a man fresh from the people, free from all old party trammels—one who has the will and the ability to take the stump against all the opposers of our Government, under whatever mask they may appear. Such a candidate we would have in WM. DORRIS, JR., Esq, whose nomination would be heartily welcomed by the people of District Attorney—Capt. J. D. Campbell.

HUNTINGDON, May 30, 1864.

MR. EDITOR:—As the people are beginning to look about for suitable candidates to fill the various offices to be voted for this fall, I would suggest the name of CAPT. JAMES D. CAMPBELL, for DISTRICT ATTORNEY. Capt. Campbell is a young lawyer of extraordinary talent, and would make a most excellent prosecuting attorney, being well acquainted with the duties of that office, as well as every other branch of the profession. No better man can be found, and no lawyer has greater claims upon the people of this county, for he is the only member of the bar from the county, who has served his country in the capacity of a soldier. Leaving what promised to be a lucrative profession, he was among the first to take up arms in defence of our country, and having served faithfully for over two years, and acquitting himself nobly upon every occasion, the people of this county owe him a debt of gratitude which they can easily repay, while it would be but a small remuneration for his valuable services. It would be a matter of JUSTICE.

WAR FOR THE UNION.

FROM GENERAL GRANT.

Details of the Retreat of Lee to Richmond --The Pursuit by Gen. Grant—A Number of Fights, with Grant—Slaughter of the Rebels—Everything Wears a Favorable Aspect.

WASHINGTON, May 24, 10-30 P. M.—To Major-General Dix, New York:—A despatch dated at 11 o'clock last night, states that the army moved from its position to the North Anna, following closely Lee's army.

The 5th and 6th Corps marched by way of Harris' Store to Jericho Ford, and the 5th Corps succeeded in effecting a crossing and getting into position without much opposition. Shortly after, however, they were violently attacked and handsomely repulsed the assault, which was without much loss to us. We captured some prisoners. Everything looks exceedingly favorable to us.

Another despatch, giving in detail the movements of our corps, and speaking of the Rebel assault on General Warren's position, says he was attacked with great vehemence; and I have never heard more rapid or successive firing, either of artillery or musketry. The attack resulted in a destructive repulse of the enemy.

At the position attacked by General Hancock, the Rebels were intrenched and in considerable force between the creek he had crossed and the river, and made a pertinacious resistance to his onset, but before dark he had forced them from their works and drove them across the stream. It is also said that in these engagements the slaughter of the enemy was very great. Our losses were inconsiderable. The Rebels charged against our artillery, and suffered especially from canister.

A despatch from General Grant this morning at eight o'clock has also been received. It states that the enemy has fallen back from the North Ann, and we are in pursuit. Negroes who have come in say that Lee is falling back to Richmond.

Other official despatches, from headquarters, say that General Warren, Burnside, and Hancock are pushing forward after the retreating army. General Warren captured a good number of prisoners last evening, but has not had time to count them or ascertain his loss.

General Hancock in storming the rifle-pits this side of the river last evening, also took between one hundred and two hundred prisoners, and drove many Rebels into the river, where they were drowned.

General Warren also captured some official papers, and among them an order calling out all the boys seventeen years of age to garrison Richmond. The ambulance men and musicians are also ordered into the camps.

General Sheridan was at Dunkirk this morning, and will be at Milford to-night.

No despatches have been received from General Sherman to-day, and none are expected for several days. Despatches from General Butler have been received to-day, relating chiefly to the respective forces. Admiral Lee, in a telegram, dated the 22nd, to the Secretary of the Navy, states that last Saturday night the enemy attacked the army, and were handsomely repulsed

A despatch from Major-General Canby, dated the 18th, at the mouth of the Red River, states that General Banks' troops had arrived at Sommesport yesterday, and would be at Morganza to-day. The army is in better condition than was expected, and would soon be ready to resume offensive operations.

Capture of Prisoners—The Rebels Discouraged—Hancock and Warren in Pursuit of the Retreating Enemy—Later from Genl. Butler—Lee Demanded the Surrender of Fort Powhattan—Demand Not Complied With—Attack by, and Repulse of the Rebels.

OFFICIAL DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, May 25—9 P. M.

To Major General Dix:—Latest dates from Gen. Grant's headquarters received by this department, are dated Mt. Carmel Church, 1 P. M. yesterday. The dispatch says everything was going on well.

Warren has four hundred prisoners, Hancock some three hundred, and Wright has picked up some.

The whole number resulting from yesterday's operations will not fall short of a thousand.

Warren's loss is not over 300 killed and wounded.

The prisoners captured are in a great part North Carolinans, who are much discouraged and say Lee has deceived them.

Pursuit is delayed by the fatigue of the men. Still Hancock and Warren will reach the South Anna by nightfall.

Gen. Butler, in a dispatch dated headquarters in the field, 7½ o'clock this morning, reports that Major Gen. Fitz Hugh Lee, lately promoted, made with cavalry, infantry and artillery, an attack upon my post at Wilson's wharf, on the north side of James river, below Fort Powhattan, garrisoned by two regiments, all negro troops, Brig. Gen. Wild commanding, and was handsomely repulsed.

Before the attack Lee sent a flag stating that he had force enough to take the place, and demanded its surrender, and in that case the garrison should be turned over to the authorities at Richmond as prisoners of war, but if the proposition was rejected he would not be answerable for consequences, when he took the place.

Gen. Wild replied: 'We will try that.'

Reinforcements were sent, but the fight was over before their arrival. Loss not yet reported.

No other reports of military operations have been received by this department, since my telegram of 9.30 last evening.

(Signed) EDWIN M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

The Rebel Position—The Ninth Army Corps.

WASHINGTON, May 26.

Maj. Gen. Dix, New York:

Dispatches from General Grant received this morning inform the Department that the rebel army still hold a strong position between the North and South Anna, where their forces appear to be concentrated.

It will probably require two or three days to develop his operations, which are not now proper subject for publication.

The Ninth Corps has been incorporated with the Army of the Potomac.

No dispatches have been received from any other field of operations.

Secretary of War.

Account of the Battle on the North Anna River—Gallantry of Hancock's Corps and Birney's Division—The Fight at the Bridge—Ewell Ordered by Lee to fall back to Richmond—Gen. Sheridan's Second Expedition—The Railroad Torn up below Hanover Junction by Custer's Cavalry—The Race for Richmond—Terrible Loss of the Rebels in Officers and Men.

Account of Movements on Sunday.

Headquarters Army of the Potomac, May 23.—The advance of the army reached the North Anna yesterday forenoon, the 5th Corps moving by the telegraph road from Guinney's Station, along which they had followed the enemy for several miles, skirmishing at different points, and capturing a number of prisoners.

Ewell's corps was in the rear of the retreating foe, and when they got to the North Anna they took position behind earthworks on both sides of the river. The 2d corps, having had the advance on the Bowling Green road, remained at Milford on the 22d, and at 1 P. M. yesterday came up and took position on the left of the 2d (?) corps, reaching to the railroad. On examination it was found the enemy held a strong position on the south bank of the river, with their advance on a peninsula formed by a small stream which emptied into the river near the railroad crossing.

Barlow's division occupied the right of the railroad, Birney in front of the peninsula, and Gibbons on the right, while the 5th corps were on the road leading to Buford, a mile to the right. Skirmishing in front of Birney commenced at 2 P. M. and at four the batteries got to work and shelled the enemy, while Birney's division were ordered to charge and carry the works, and, if possible, get possession of the bridge across the river.

The charge was made in splendid style, and although met with a shower of bullets from the rifle-pits and shells from the opposite side of the river, our men never halted until the enemy were driven across the bridge and our guns placed so as to command it. Some of the men even went half way across, and one was seen with a rebel flag, who was compelled to throw it into the river to prevent its recapture. The highest praise was given to the division and its generals by Genl Hancock for the gallant manner in which they stormed and carried this position.

The contest continued until after dark, each party maintaining its own line. Our loss in this action was 250 killed and wounded. The loss of the enemy was fully as heavy as ours, and we took a number of prisoners.

About 5 p m Gen Warren effected a crossing, and, taking a position on the south bank, threw up some breastworks. Soon afterwards he was attacked by a large force of rebels, whom he drove back with heavy loss—men, dead and wounded, lying thick on the ground in front of our lines after they retreated. Our loss here was about 300 killed and wounded.

About dark Genl Burnside's corps came up and took position between Hancock and Warren, and made preparations to cross, while the 6th corps took the right of the 5th. Everybody felt in good spirits, and confident of a victory on the coming day.

May 24. The army advanced at an early hour this morning, but the enemy was found to have fallen back during the night, and his skirmish line was captured after firing the first time. It was suspected that this might be intended as a ruse, and great caution was exercised. As the troops advanced, skirmishing took place at several points, but the Second Corps had met with no force of the enemy up to two p m, at which time your correspondent left the front.

General Warren advanced some two or three miles, the enemy in his front seeming determined to dispute his advance, although gradually falling back.

May 25, 8 p m. A messenger who left the front at six o'clock this afternoon reports the enemy crossing the South Anna, with our troops in close pursuit. Over 600 prisoners have been brought in since yesterday, and more are hourly arriving.

Firing was heard this morning in the direction of Port Royal, supposed to be from a rebel battery, which is represented to have been placed at a point twelve miles below Fredericksburg. Two gunboats went down the river last night, and it is thought they may have been attacked in the hope of sinking them.

An orderly of General Lee's army was brought to headquarters to-day, on whom were found despatches to General Ewell from Lee, ordering him to fall back to the defences of Richmond. A lieutenant taken only two days ago said his brigade had been at Plymouth and Drury's Bluff, and after fighting Butler, was sent at once to join Lee's army in front of Grant.—The Colonel made them a speech on Saturday evening as soon as they arrived, telling them that they must reach Richmond on Monday morning by ten o'clock, or the d—d Yankees would be there before them.

This afternoon a detachment from the cavalry expedition under Sheridan arrived at headquarters, announcing the safe return of the command across the Pamunkey last night, and they would arrive to-night.

General Custer's division cut the railroad twelve miles below Hanover Junction on the 21st, burning two bridges and tearing up a mile of railroad. He encountered a body of rebel cavalry behind barricades, but could not induce them to come out and attack him. The party had to build a bridge across the Pamunkey at White House, which they did in twenty-four hours, over which the entire command passed in safety. The horses of the expedition are pretty well exhausted, but a few day's rest and feed on the fine clover to be found in this vicinity will put them in condition for service. Generals Sheridan, Gregg and Custer are entitled to great praise for the manner in which the expedition has been conducted.

LATER.

Important Change of the Army—Hanover Ferry and Hanover taken by Gen Sheridan—Everything goes on Finely. 75 Cavalry and Officers Captured by Sheridan—The Rebel Cavalry Demoralized—From General Sherman.

OFFICIAL.

Washington, May 28—To Maj Genl Dix, N Y: An official despatch from the headquarters of the Army of the Potomac at Monghick Church, ten miles from Hanover town, dated yesterday afternoon at 5 P M.

It states that our army was withdrawn to the north side of the North Anna on Thursday night, and marched toward Hanover town, the place designated for the crossing of the Pamunkey river.

At nine o'clock on Friday morning Sheridan with the first and Second Division of cavalry, took possession of Hanover ferry and Hanover town, finding there only a rebel vidette.

The First division of the Sixth corps arrived at 10 o'clock, a m, and he now holds the place with sufficient force of cavalry, infantry and artillery to resent any attack likely to be made upon him. The remainder of the Corps are pressing forward with rapidity.—The weather is fine and the roads perfect. A late dispatch, dated at seven o'clock this morning, the 28th, from the headquarters at Monghick church has also been received. It reports that everything goes on finely, the weather is clear, &c.

The troops came up rapidly and in great spirit, and the army will be beyond the Pamunkey by noon.

Breckenridge is at Hanover Court House with a force variously reported at from 3,000 to 10,000. Wickham's and Lomax's brigade of cavalry were also there.

The dispatch further states that after seizing Hanover ferry yesterday General Lorbert captured seventy-five cavalry, including six officers; that the rebel cavalry is exceedingly demoralized, and flees before ours on every occasion.

A dispatch from General Sherman, dated May 28, 6 A. M., near Dallas, reports that the enemy, discovering his move to turn Altoona, moved to meet our forces at Dallas. Our columns met the enemy about one mile east of the point in view, and we pushed them back about three miles to the point where the roads fork to Atlanta and Marietta. Here Johnston has chosen a strong line and made hasty but strong parapets of lumber and earthworks.

Gen. Sherman's right is at Dallas and the centre about three miles north. The country is densely wooded and broken.

There are no roads of any consequence.—We have had many sharp encounters, but nothing decisive. No dispatches from any other field of operations have been received to day.

EDWIN M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

Parties who reached here from Fredericksburg to day, report that guerillas continue to hover around the town in considerable numbers. Many of them are also to be seen along the banks of the Rappahannock.

On Thursday evening the guerillas, supposing that Fredericksburg has been evacuated, made a dash up to where some of our troops were in the river bathing and fired upon them, killing one and wounding two. They soon discovered that our forces held the town, and they immediately retired.

A detachment of Maine cavalry were sent in pursuit, but they were unable to overtake the marauders.

From General Butler's Army.

Moonlight Battle, on Saturday Night, on James River—Repulse of Gen. Beauregard—His Forces Forty Thousand Men—Terrible Slaughter of Rebels—Gen. Butler Master of the Position.

Lieutenant-Commander Lowry, of the navy, left General Butler's headquarters, on the James River, on Sunday morning, and arrived here about noon to-day. He has had an interview this afternoon with the President and Secretary of War. He states that General Beauregard made a desperate attack upon General Butler's centre, commanded by General Gillmore, on Saturday night, by moonlight. Deep ravines protect the works in front of General Butler's right and left, hence the attack was made exclusively upon the centre. Beauregard led the assaulting column in person. His force altogether numbered at least 40,000 men, and they were all massed and thrown into this fight.

Commander Lowry describes the attack as the most impetuous and promising in a time, for the series of charges made, that could be imagined. The Rebels yelled, as they came up, like wild men. Gillmore kept his batteries silent until the enemy massed and was in best possible distance and range, when the word was given, and the death dealing cannon opened along the whole centre.

In an instant the Rebel shouting ceased; the defiant column advanced no longer. Nothing but a skeleton was left of it to reel and stagger back. Beauregard rallied new men to the breach, and again and again Gillmore hurled the defiant traitors back. The battle lasted two hours, closing about midnight, and was probably one of the most desperate conflicts, for the time it occupied and the number of men engaged, that has occured during the war.

There is little doubt that Beauregard was reinforced for this occasion, with the hope of overpowering General Butler. Instead of doing so, however, he was most gallantly and completely repulsed, with terrible slaughter.

During the battle, the gunboats on the James and Appomattox Rivers shelled the enemy, doing great execution.

General Butler was commanding in person during the entire battle, and at times was very much exposed.

The position occupied by Gen. Butler's forces, on a neck of land formed by the course of the two rivers, is impregnable. It is sure death and defeat to any force, however formidable, that may attempt to take it.

Our loss on Saturday night was comparatively slight, as we were fighting behind works, but the enemy's loss must have been very large, from the fact that they were concentrated upon the centre in masses, and were not fired upon until near enough to be mowed down with certainty.

Commander Lowry says he saw the enemy's ranks completely swept away one after the other.

The whole affair is a complete success on the part of General Butler, and has proved awfully expensive to Beauregard.—Wash. Rep., May 21.

On to Richmond! The Retreat of Gen. Lee. Jeff, Davis and Cabinet Gone from Richmond. Affairs at Fredericksburg.

WASHINGTON, May 25.

The Republican has an extra out which contains the following:

It gives us pleasure to be able to announce that intelligence has reached the city that General Lee, after falling back from the North Anna, (as mentioned by Gen. Grant,) commenced a hasty retreat, and that he had reached a point beyond the South Anna river, pursued with great vigor by the corps under Gen. Grant.

The latter is in the saddle all the time, day and night, directing the general movements in person.

Grant is evidently embarrassing Lee. The latter thinks the former unmilitary in his tactics in not stopping his pursuit.

Unless Lee stops to fight to-day, we shall next hear of the grand conflict for the city of Richmond, before or in the works of that capital.

The advices say that Jeff Davis and his cabinet left Richmond some days ago, fearing that in the approaching anaconda embrace of Genl Grant they might be gobbled up.

There is little doubt that Richmond by this time is pretty well cleared of its inhabitants. It is now nothing less than a fortress.

Some of the trophies of Grant's new advance on Richmond have arrived.

There are still a number of sick and wounded at Fredericksburg, and as soon as they are removed that place will also lose its importance quite as suddenly as Belle Plain has.

Skirmishing with guerillas occurs daily, but always results in our favor.

Secretary Stanton's Dispatches.

Dispatch from Gen. Banks.—The Enemy Beaten in Two Engagements.—The Material of the Army Complete.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, May 26, 1864.

To Maj. Gen. Dix:

The dispatch from General Grant, mentioned in my telegraph this morning, was dated at Jericho Mills, twelve o'clock, noon, May 25.

An official dispatch from headquarters, Quarles ford, at eight o'clock this morning, has just been received. It details movements in progress since yesterday, of which it is not proper now to say more than that they will manifest their result within twenty four hours.

Our sick and wounded—in Fredericksburg have been transferred to Washington, and the army material and supplies removed to points nearer to the present field of operations.

From the mouth of Red river, May 21, Maj. General Canby reports that the army from Red river was delayed in crossing the Atchafalaya by the high water and insufficient pontoon equipage. The crossing was completed to day, and the army is now moving across the Mississippi.

Brigadier General A. J. Smith had a spirited engagement with Polignac's rebel division on the 8th inst., defeating it, driving it several miles and capturing three hundred prisoners.

In a report at 10:45 to day, General Butler says:

"Further official reports show that the repulse at Wilson's wharf was even more complete than telegraphed. The enemy retreated during the night leaving twenty-five of their dead in our hands, and showed a loss of killed and wounded of more than two hundred.—From the accounts of every officer the negro troops behaved most splendidly."

EDWIN M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

WASHINGTON, May 27, 10 P. M.

Major General Dix, New York:

A dispatch from Major Gen. Banks, dated May 21, on the Mississippi river, was received to day

It details the brilliant achievement of Col. Bailey, in constructing a dam across the falls of the Red river, for the relief of the gunboat fleet, the particulars of which have already been made public.

The army, in moving from Alexandria to the Mississippi, had two engagements with the enemy—one at Masana, and one at Yellow Bayou, in both of which the rebels were beaten.

General Banks states that "no prisoners, guns, wagons, or other material of the army have been captured by the enemy, except that abandoned to him, in the unexpected engagement at Sabine Cross, on the morning of the 8th of April;" that with the exception of the losses sustained there, the material of the army is complete.

EDWIN M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

From Sheridan's Army.

We have permission to publish the following interesting letter from a son of J. Kinney McCahan:

CAMP AT WHITE HOUSE LANDING, Va.
May 22nd., 1864.

DEAR FATHER:—As I again have an opportunity of dropping you a few lines I shall let you know of our whereabouts. When I wrote to you last, we lay on the banks of the James River near Harrison's Landing, (on May 16th.) On the 17th we pulled up stakes and marched about a mile, and were then ordered back to camp on the same evening; we packed up again and marched all night, got lost twice and did not get right until daylight; when we had only traveled 10 miles over by roads and through woods, &c. We marched on, passing cross roads, one leading to City Point, distant 6 miles and the other leading to New Kent Court House, distant 10 miles. We forded one branch of the Chickahominy river and crossed one branch, called the Chickahominy Canal on a bridge built by our pioneers; we camped here for breakfast, it being about 10 o'clock A. M.; we lay here till about 4 o'clock P. M., (during which time there was a heavy hail storm.) We then marched about 8 miles and camped for the night. I accompanied two companies of our regiment who were sent out on picket; we went in the direction of New Kent Court House; we remained on picket two nights and one day, and on Friday, May 20, we rejoined the regiment. We had a good time on picket; our head quarters were on a splendid plantation; we camped in a nice yard where there were all kinds of flowers, shrubs, &c., and being near a fishery, we had fresh shad all the time; the white inhabitants have all left; I was at a small church here in which (I was informed by an old darkey) Genl. Washington was married.

Whilst here the rebels lay within 1½ miles of us. After joining the regiment the whole corps pulled up stakes and moved on the direct road to Richmond leaving the White House in our rear. We marched on and halted at cross roads called Cold Harbor, about 4 o'clock, P M., and camped for the night. We were now within twelve miles of Richmond, and the rebels very handy; but we unsaddled our horses and went into camp as though there were no rebels in the State.

Next day, (Saturday,) we foraged within six miles of Richmond, and one of our brigades run against a rebel brigade, but the rebs flew the course as usual. Our boys got plenty of corn and sweet potatoes here. We had sweet potatoes and veal for supper, but no bread.

This morning, (Sunday May 22nd,) we started at daylight and arrived at the White House (of McClellan notoriety) about 1 o'clock, P M. We have been out of rations two days, but we have plenty now. The gunboats bro't us rations to this point. We drew 5 days rations and are going to cross the Pamunkey river on the railroad bridge in the morning, but where we are going I cannot tell.

This is the second time since our raid that we have held any communications with our friends at home, and to morrow we expect the gunboats will leave us amongst the Rebels once more, but as long as we have Rations and horse feed we do not care; we can go where we please with the Rebel cavalry following in our wake but not daring to molest us. We keep close around Richmond all the time and get their papers occasionally. In their last paper they published that we were all killed or captured but before their ink was dry we were back to see them.—I must close. I am well. I send this letter in care of the Captain of one of the Gun Boats Give my love to all. Our Division crossed the River this evening. In one of our engagements the Rebel General J. E. B. Stuart was killed. Nothing more at present.

With three others he lies in a beautiful pine and cedar grove, his grave well marked, on the estate called Beverly Place.

Benjamin was a very intelligent young man and faithful soldier. He was so low in his last moments I could not talk with him, but I am told he was a correspondent of your paper, over the signature "Nimrod." His wound was a minnie ball entering his shoulder and passing downward towards his back and opposite side. It was very painful, but he bore it like a true soldier.

LOCAL & PERSONAL.

The Killed and Wounded.

In no battle of the war have so many of Old Huntingdon's sons suffered as in the battles of last month in Virginia. Almost every soldier who enlisted from this place and was engaged in combat, received a wound, and some were killed. The saddening news as communicated by letter or in the lists of the killed and wounded, cast a gloom on the countenance of parents and friends in the midst of their rejoicing over the conquests made and the victories achieved by our arms. Could we render appropriate eulogies in memory of the fallen heroes, or speak with high-toned words of praise in appreciation of the services of those who have fought till wounded, we would most willingly and cheerfully do so; but the patriotic motives that inspired them and the readiness with which they entered into the conflict is proof sufficient of the esteem in which they should be regarded by their people, and if they fall in their efforts to uphold the Union and confer it unimpaired to posterity, then their parents and friends should be consoled in the fact that they died nobly.

Archibald McAllister.

We have a very inconsistent representative in Congress from this District, and that member is Archibald McAllister. His conduct has been watched by the people, and both parties, that which elected as well as that which opposed him, have observed his inconsistency and severely and justly censured him. The Union proclivities which he professed during the election were only for the time, to secure the people's favor, and obtain the position. He has proved unfaithful to the trust confided in him by working in direct opposition to the principles of true loyalty, and of course neither his re-election nor his re-nomination is a certainty. He is as dead in the eyes of the opposition clique as he is in those of the Union party. We regret having given him our support; but there is now to be added to the stigma of his having acted a perfidious and disloyal part, the painful consciousness of having deceived the honest and loyal public. May his sun of ambitious renown sink still deeper into the depths of oblivion and obscurity!

A Soldier Gone.

Under the head of "Our Army Correspondence" will be found a communication from the Chaplain of the 149, Regt., P. V., which treats upon the death of Benj. C. Lytle. We were deeply grieved on receiving this intelligence, and not only do we mourn with the community the loss of an intelligent young man, and with his companions in arms the loss of a good and faithful soldier, but we also regret the death of our valuable correspondent, whose communications excited interest in all who read them. May his resting place never be disturbed by the ruthless hand of traitors nor the clashing of arms. We repeat, in thy secluded sepulchre beneath the cedars of Beverly's beautiful grove, hero, rest in peace!

War Prices.

It is amusing to see the rapidity with which the different commodities of art and nature have ascended in the scale of exorbitancy in price since the levy of taxes has been enforced. Every article of consumption or apparel has advanced in price, and those, the price of which at former times appeared slight and trivial, are now made the more considerable—or inconsiderable, if you choose—by having the enormous increase of price imposed thereon by the producer and doubly increased by the vender. Such is the disposition of man to impose on good nature. The increase of price in less significant commodities which formerly sold for two cents but now for five, has we think been owing to the want of change to the amount of three cent pieces. A decrease in price in the less costly articles would follow if three cent pieces in hard or paper currency were circulated.

The Draft.

The draft for this district commenced in Hollidaysburg on Monday last. The following list is the number of men to be drafted in this county:

Jackson township	27
Barree "	22
Porter & Alexandria bor.	1
Franklin township	3
Warrior Mark	16
Henderson "	5
Juniata "	3
Hopewell "	3
Carbon "	89
Tod "	1
Clay "	15
Springfield "	12
Cromwell tp., & Orbisonia bor.	17
Shirleysburg	3
Shirley tp	1
Dublin	17
Tell	20
West tp., & Petersburg bor.	1

☞ Our particular friend Robert Stewart, of Barree, now at Placerville Cal., has our thanks for California papers.

☞ We are always pleased to hear from our friends in the army, and when their letters can be read by the compositors, and are of sufficient general interest, we publish them with pleasure.

Good Step.

We see in perambulating the roads that intersect the green fields of grain and pasture that the farmers are cultivating every piece or patch of ground of their possession. This is a very good move and will in the end be productive of many advantageous results. Our husbandmen can do nothing wiser, and nothing else that would be of as great benefit. Owing to the present condition in respect to the price of articles of consumption, which no doubt will continue for some time, cultivators can realize a snug sum from ready purchasers. Be wise and industrious, farmers, and reap a rich harvest of grain and dollars.

Central Fair.

The Great Central Sanitary Fair will open in Philadelphia, on Tuesday, the 7th of June, and continue two weeks. Many of our citizens purpose attending this Fair; we have no doubt they will be highly satisfied and pleased with their visit. Let all go who can make it convenient, and contribute in aid of the soldiers' welfare. Such opportunities are not of every day occurrence.

New Column.

Believing it to be advisable and judicious to open a column for a series of articles upon the moral training of children in the Sabbath School, we have allowed the same a space in our paper. The editor of this column, judging from his introductory, will make it both interesting and instructive.

Interesting Correspondence.

On the outside of to-days issue will be found a communication from Mr. Dieffenbach to his uncle in this place, which has been permitted us to publish. His friends, and the public in general, will find a graphic account of the author's experience in the late battles in Virginia.

How are you, Conscripts?

The draft is again in operation in this district, after many postponements. This we think will be the last, judging from the aspect of affairs and the spirit of our military leaders. If it sh'ld be the last, on account of the suppression of the rebellion, then how will the drafted ones feel who could, if they had been so disposed in the postponed period, have received the high bounties. "No use crying over spilled milk," as the saying is, so also there will be no use repining over their refusal or rejection of the high bounties. Procrastination has robbed them of a golden opportunity.

☞ The slide on the Bedford Railroad has been cleared away, and trains run regularly twice a day from this place to Mt. Dallas. Trains leave at 7.30 A. M., and 5.40 P. M.

A Handsome Contribution.

We learn that the citizens of Walker township, on last week forwarded for the Sanitary Fair, $137,00 in money, and a box of Sanitary stores. This we believe was the first liberal contribution from this county, making about $1,58 to each individual on the enrollment list.

Broad Top City House.

This popular summer resort has been opened for the season by Jos. Morrison & J. S. Miller, of this place.

☞ Joseph Moore, with his wife and son, have departed from Johnstown to Iowa. A great deal of sympathy had been manifested in his behalf in the community, but by this unlooked for act he deprives himself of a great portion of it.

☞ Our neighbor, Miss KATE BUPP will please accept our thanks for a handsome boquet.

☞ Adj. Wm. Cunningham, of the 110th P. V., arrived home on Tuesday last. His wounds are doing well. He expects to be ready for service again in three or four weeks.

Co. C, 53rd Regt.

By a letter dated 16th ult., to a friend, we have the following list of killed and wounded in this company: —Killed—Wm. Shontz, Robt. Hood, Elijah Crownover. Wounded—Jacob Magill, G. W. Woodcock, J. C. States, W. B. Dean, W. Coble, and several others not named.

☞ Mr. Isaac Long will please accept our thanks for an armful of mammoth rhubarb.

Letter From the West.

MONMOUTH, ILLINOIS,
May 23d, 1864.

Friend Lewis:—Not having anything else on hand for a few moments, I have concluded to write once more for the Globe, a few lines, and if nothing of more importance crowds on you, give this a place in your columns, if otherwise, in your stove. It is now 14 years since myself and family, bid good bye to old Huntingdon and old and tried friends, to begin life in the west. Since that time, scarcely a number of the Globe has missed us, and yet no other paper takes its place; the Globe must be first read, let it come with what other paper it may. And, oh, how many sad items its columns have contained, under the head of Deaths — the names of neighbors, friends, cousins, father and mother, have been recorded, and of late, what harvests death has been reaping on the gory fields of our distracted country. And yet, we cannot forget that many brave boys must fall, before this cruel war is over; but it is useless to anticipate; God grant that it may soon be over, and armed rebellion driven from our once happy land. Since I wrote you some time ago describing the different kind of "copperheads" in our section of country, I met with a specimen, I think, different from any I had ever met with, and with your leave, I will describe it.

First, he wants the rebellion conquered, and don't care anything about Slavery—would just as soon that it would be killed by the war as not. But he is opposed to the President and his plans, and wants the rebels whipped, in a constitutional way, and is particularly opposed to changing the object of the war, as he says, the President has; from preserving the Government, to destroying Slavery. He believes the result of the war to be, to save the Government, and nothing else, and let the result be, to kill Slavery. And because the President has perverted the war into a crusade against Slavery, (those are his words,) he considers it his duty to oppose the Government all he can.

He reminds me very much of an old fellow, named Fogy, who lived in the village of Bigotry; his house joined hard on to one Progress, a go ahead young fellow. Well, one night, old Fogy heard an alarm of fire, and rushed out to find his house on fire, his neighbors rushed to the rescue, and soon all hands were busy, and Progress was working for dear life, and urging the others to put out the fire, for as he said, if old Fogy's house was burnt, his would go too; at this, old Fogy hauled off, quit work, and pitched into Progress, swearing that if the object of putting out the fire, was changed from saving his house to saving the other, they might both burn, and be d—d, for all he cared.

The weather has been very fine here for some time. There has been no rain now for two weeks—before that, the weather was rather wet. The prospect for the coming crop is good now, and fruit promises well again. The farmers are busy planting corn, and are in great hopes of a good crop, as last year was the worst corn crop, raised in this county since I first saw it, and the oldest inhabitant is of the same opinion. Our town is improving rapidly this season, and business is very brisk; there is rather a poor show for lawyers and constables, as everybody who is worth anything, or can, or who will work, has plenty of money. Day laborers of the poorest quality, can get $1,50 per day; mechanics in proportion.

The 100 days men, are filling up in this State, rapidly. The move is a hard stroke on the "cops;" poor fellows, they don't know just what to do but they will try to study up some mischief. Our State I believe, can boast the strongest secession newspaper in the United States; the Chicago Times; it beats the Richmond Enquirer, all hollow.

Yours, &c.,

JOHN PORTER.

DIED,

In Henderson township, on Friday, May 6th, 1864, Mrs. MARY JANE HETRICK, wife of Philip K. Hetrick, aged 27 years, 8 months.

When for eternal worlds she's gone,
Why should we sit and weep and mourn
O'er one whose spirit took its flight
To realms of rapture and delight.

CHORUS—The soul for joy then claps her wings,
And loud her lovely sonnet sings—
Safe at home.

Bright angels who from glory come,
Were round her bed, were in her room;
They came from worlds of spirits bright,
To guide her safe to purer light.

CHORUS—The soul for joy, &c.

Then husband, mother, dear,
Your wife and daughter will appear
In that bright world where angels dwell—
The ransomed host God's praises swell.

CHORUS—The soul for joy, &c.

Brothers, sisters, friends, farewell;
I go in distant climes to dwell.
Prepare to meet me in yon Heaven,
Where love and joy supreme are given.

CHORUS—The soul for joy, &c.

And is she safe! Yes, we will say;
Safe at home in Heaven to-day.
"Waiting for Jesus," she expressed,
Hallelujah! safe at rest!

An appeal will be held by the undersigned at the Treasurer's Office in the borough of Huntingdon, on Saturday, the 18th day of June next. Persons wishing to appeal will apply on or before that day, as none will be granted thereafter.

R. McDIVITT, Mercantile Appraiser.

NOTICE.—By an act of Assembly passed the 11th day of April, 1862, it is made the duty of the County Treasurer to sue out all licenses not lifted on or before the first day of July. Persons having licenses to lift, will save costs by calling and lifting the same previous to that time, as those not lifted within the time prescribed by law, will positively be placed in the hands of a proper officer for collection.

DAVID BLACK, Co. Treas.

Huntingdon, June 1, 1864.

DRAFT.

1. The Draft for sub-districts deficient under the calls for 700,000 men will commence at the Headquarters of the District Provost Marshal of 17th District, Penna., at Hollidaysburg, on Monday, the 30th day of May.

2d. The assignment of credits for volunteers will be continued notwithstanding the draft.

ORPHANS' COURT SALE OF Mill Creek Furnace Property.

In pursuance of an order of the Orphans' Court of Huntingdon county the undersigned will expose to public sale on the premises,

On Thursday, the 2d day of June, 1864,

At two o'clock, P. M., on said day, the interest of Genl. James Irvin, deceased, in all the following described real estate situate in said county, known as "The Mill Creek Furnace Property," viz:

All the one undivided half part of a tract of land situate in the township of Brady near the mouth of Mill Creek, containing 180 acres and 40 perches, about 80 acres of which are cleared and in a good state of cultivation, having thereon a large blast Furnace with necessary machinery for blowing the same either by steam or water; an excellent grist mill, with four run of stones, smut machine, &c., a saw mill, a full complement of dwelling houses for manager and hands to reside in; all of which buildings are near the Penna. Canal.

Also—The one undivided half part of a piece or parcel of land adjoining the above tract and lying between the same and the Juniata River, containing 16 acres and 121 perches; said lands include Mill Creek from the line of the above mentioned tract to its junction with the Juniata river, and is good bottom land with two dwelling houses erected on it.

Also—The one undivided half part of a tract of land adjoining the two above mentioned tracts and the Juniata river, purchased from J. & J. Milliken, containing 32 acres and 120 perches; upon which are built three dwelling houses, stables, &c., also, a large frame dwelling house called the "Mansion House" fronting the turnpike and canal, with commodious grounds, garden, yard, outhouses, &c. A substantial wharf is built and a railroad leading therefrom to the furnace; about two hundred yards on this tract. Also—the one undivided half part of nine tracts of unseated lands situate in the said township of Brady and Henderson, convenient to the said furnace, all of which are well timbered, viz; One tract containing 400 acres, surveyed on a warrant in the name of Daniel Ott; another containing 331 acres and 31 perches, in the name of Adam Houck; another containing 400 acres in the name of Andrew Burgart, another containing 412 acres, in the name of Frederick Bates; another containing 414 acres and 156 perches, in the name of Lewis Lamer; another containing 400 acres, in the names of S. M. Green and J. H. Dorsey; another an improvement right in the name of Wm. Lightner, containing three hundred acres and the other, a tract containing about 20 acres in the name of S. M. Green, adjoining the furnace tract, John Goodman and others.

Also—The one undivided half part of a tract of land situate in same township, containing about 140 acres, of which about 90 acres are cleared and under a good state of cultivation, adjoining lands of Jacob Miller, Wm. Buchanan, and the Juniata river, lying on the Juniata below and including canal and turnpike; on which are erected two dwelling houses and a good frame barn; said tract is known as "Sugar Grove" or "Red House" tract.

Also—The one undivided half part of a tract of land containing 156 acres and 48 perches, situate in said township about one mile east of the said furnace adjoining lands of James Lane and others, about fifty acres of which are cleared; this tract is known by the name of "Duncan place."

Also—The one undivided half part of a tract of land situate in said township of Henderson; containing 197 acres and 134 perches, situate about three miles northeast of the Furnace, on the waters of Mill Creek—adjoining lands of Thomas Reed, Michael Hawn and others, having about 50 acres cleared. This tract is known as the "Warefield farm."

Also—The one undivided half part of all the interest which J. H. Dorsey had, and held in and to a tract of land containing 306 acres and 35 perches; surveyed on a warrant in the name of Israel Pennington, on which is the Dorsey Ore bank, situate in Warriorsmark and Franklin townships in said county.

Also—The one undivided half part of seven adjoining tracts of unseated lands situate on Stone Mountain in Henderson and West townships in said county; one thereof in the name of Abraham Duffield, another in the name of Samuel Ayres, another in the name of Jesse Hawkins, another in the name of Thomas Mitchenor, and another in the name of William Mitchenor, containing together about 3000 acres.

TERMS OF SALE.—One half of the purchase in hand upon confirmation of sale, and the balance in one year with interest, to be secured by bond and mortgage of the purchaser. MARY ANN IRVIN,
Attest: [Executrix.
DANL. W. WOMELSDORF, Clerk O. C.

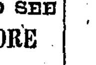

The above described Furnace is situate on the Penna. Railroad and Canal at Mill Creek; the woodland attached is within convenient distance. In addition to the well known ore of the Dorsey Ore Bank, which now supplies the furnace, the best fossil and hematite ores are accessible, at Bloody Run, and can be carried direct from the mines to the furnace by railroad.

The Furnace is now in blast, and thus affords one of the best opportunities likely soon to be given to persons desirous of making a good investment in the iron business.

The undersigned executors of the will of John M'Cahan deceased, by virtue of the authority given by said will, at the same time and place that the interest of Genl. Irvin is advertised to be sold, will offer also the interest of John M'Cahan, dec'd., in the same property, being the one undivided fourth part, upon the same terms.

JOHN K. M'CAHAN,
JOHN CRESSWELL,

FLAX. FLAX.

THE HIGH PRICES RULING FOR Cotton Goods has compelled public attention to be more especially directed to the culture of Flax. It can be made by some attention, one of the most valuable products a farmer can produce; an acre readily producing 50 to 60 Dollars worth of fibre and seed. Great care should be taken by growers to have their Flax spread very thin when rolling; when watered sufficiently on one side, it should be turned, and subject to exposure until all the stalks get a grey color, and the lint readily separates from the wood by a gentle rub.

It should on a very dry day be tied in bundles, and is then ready for the mill. As a general thing too much seed is sown on an acre. Unless the ground is very rich one Bushel per acre is sufficient. If the ground is very strong one and one fourth bushel is ample.

A JOINT RESOLUTION PROPOSING CERTAIN AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

BE it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendments be proposed to the Constitution of the Commonwealth, in accordance with the provisions of the tenth article thereof:

There shall be an additional section to the third article of the Constitution, to be designated as section four, as follows:

"SECTION 4. Whenever any of the qualified electors of this Commonwealth shall be in any actual military service, under a requisition from the President of the United States, or by the authority of this Commonwealth, such electors may exercise the right of suffrage in all elections, by the citizens, under such regulations as are, or shall be prescribed by law, as fully as if they were present at their usual place of election."

SECTION II. There shall be two additional sections to the eleventh article of the Constitution, to be designated as sections eight, and nine, as follows.

"SECTION 8. No bill shall be passed by the Legislature, containing more than one subject, which shall be clearly expressed in the title, except appropriation bills."

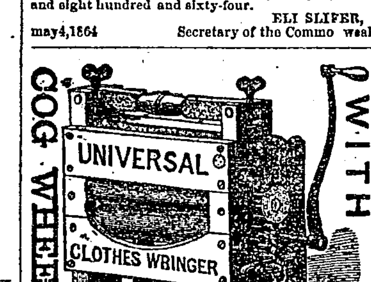

"SECTION 9. No bill shall be passed by the Legislature granting any powers, or privileges, in any case, where the authority to grant such powers, or privileges, has been, or may hereafter be, conferred upon the courts of this Commonwealth."

HENRY C. JOHNSON,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
JOHN P. PENNEY,
Speaker of the Senate.

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH,
Harrisburg, April 25, 1864.

PENNSYLVANIA SS:
I do hereby certify that the foregoing is a full, true and correct copy of the original Joint Resolution of {L. S.} the General Assembly, entitled "A Joint Resolution proposing certain Amendments to the Constitution," as the same remains on file in this office.
In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the Secretary's office to be affixed, the day and year above written.
ELI SLIFER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The above Resolution having been agreed to by a majority of the members of each House, at two successive sessions of the General Assembly of this Commonwealth, the proposed amendments will be submitted to the people, for their adoption or rejection, on the FIRST TUESDAY OF AUGUST, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, in accordance with the provisions of the tenth article of the Constitution, and the act, entitled "An Act prescribing the time and manner of submitting to the people, for their approval and ratification or rejection, the proposed amendments to the Constitution," approved the twenty-third day of April, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four.

ORANGE JUDD, of the "American Agriculturist," says of the UNIVERSAL CLOTHES WRINGER.
"A child can readily wring out a tubfull of clothes in a few minutes. It is in reality a CLOTHES SAVER! A TIME SAVER! and a STRENGTH SAVER! The saving of garments will alone pay a large per centage on its cost. We think the machine much more than "pays for itself every year" in the saving of garments! There are several kinds, nearly alike in general construction, but we consider it important that the Wringer be fitted with Cogs, otherwise a mass of garments may clog the rollers, and the rollers upon the crank-shaft slip and tear the clothes, or the rubber break loose from the shaft. Our own is one of the first make, and it is as GOOD AS NEW after nearly FOUR YEARS' CONSTANT USE.

Every Wringer with Cog Wheels is Warranted in every particular.

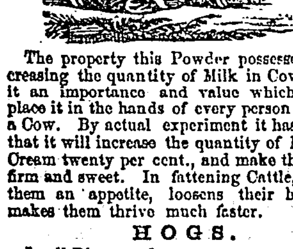

No Wringer can be Durable without Cog Wheels.

A good CANVASSER wanted in every town.
☞ On receipt of the price from places where no one is selling, we will send the Wringer free of expense.

FOUTZ'S
CELEBRATED
Horse and Cattle Powders.

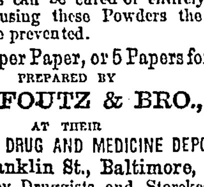

These Powders will strengthen the Stomach and Intestines, cleanse them from offensive matter, and bring them to a healthy state. They are a sure preventive of Lung Fever, and a certain remedy for all Diseases incident to the Horse, such as Glanders, Yellow Water, Distemper, Founder, Heaves, Slavering, Coughs, Fevers, Loss of Appetite and Vital Energy, &c.

In poor, low-spirited animals, it has the most beneficial effect.
The use of them improves the wind, strengthens the Appetite, and gives to the Horse a fine, smooth and glossy skin—thus improving the appearance, vigor and spirit of this noble animal.

FOR MILCH COWS.

The property this Powder possesses in increasing the quantity of Milk in Cows, gives it an importance and value which should place it in the hands of every person keeping a Cow. By actual experiment it has proven that it will increase the quantity of Milk and Cream twenty per cent., and make the Butter firm and sweet. In fattening Cattle, it gives them an appetite, loosens their hide and makes them thrive much faster.

HOGS.

In all Diseases of the Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver, &c. By putting from half a paper to a paper of these Powders in a barrel of Swill, the above Diseases can be cured or entirely prevented. By using these Powders the Hog Cholera can be prevented.

Price 25 cts. per Paper, or 5 Papers for $1.

PRACTICAL CALCULATOR.

ROHRER'S PRACTICAL CALCULATOR,
A Book of Plain Rules and Calculations for Business Operations, by Martin M. Rohrer, Practical Surveyor and Conveyancer. New Edition, published by J. B. Lippincott & Co., Philadelphia.

This work contains 204 pages, and upwards of 500 Rules and Examples, entirely and thoroughly practical such as arise every day in the common pursuits of Business. It has already passed through a number of editions in rapid succession, and is pronounced by all classes of business men to be the handiest book of reference, pertaining to calculations, that has ever been published.

Every example in the book is worked out in full and stated in a plain manner, so that when a parallel case arises, those referring to the work will find no difficulty in solving it; in a word, the general arrangement of the CALCULATOR is simple, that any one who knows how to add, subtract, multiply and divide, can easily solve any ordinary example that arises in business, or arrive at the true result of any estimate required.

The chief aim of the author has been to eschew theory and philosophy in figures, aiming only at facts and simplicity, believing that business men care little about spending time in discussing the philosophy of rules, or the science of figures, deeming it sufficient for their purpose to be able at a moment, by reference, to arrive at the true result. The CALCULATOR differs in this respect from all other Arithmetics of the day and kindred works—it is a key to practical business calculations—it is, in the hands of the business man, what the key to mathematical works in the hands of the teacher in the school room—it facilitates time and insures correctness.

THE WORK TREATS OF THE

Measurement of Land, of Lumber, of Brick and Brick Work, of Stone and Stone work, of grain and grain bins of coal and coal bins, of wood, of solids, of liquids of circular, square or irregular vessels, of cisterns and vats, of roofing, of plasterer's, painter's, glazier's, paver's, plumber's, paper hanger's and upholsterers' work. It treats of currency and of foreign and domestic exchange, of the decimal system, of reduction and its extended application to business, of simple and compound interest, and their entire application to business transactions, with the laws and usages governing the same, together with numerous commercial forms—of legal tender, of partial payment on notes, of banking and bank discount, of equation of payment and of partnership accounts, of assessment of taxes, of weights and measures, of square and cubic measure, of the square root and its application to business of surfaces, of excavation, and of many other important practical matters not within the scope of an advertisement to mention.

IT IS JUST THE BOOK FOR THE

Farmer, the merchant, the mechanic, the artizan, or the professional man. It has proven a valuable auxiliary to the lawyer, the justice of the peace, the conveyancer, and real estate broker, to the assessor, the banker, the clerk, to the civil engineer and the surveyor, to the carpenter and bricklayer, to the stonemason and the plasterer, to the paper hanger and upholsterer, to the paver and the tiler, &c., &c.; each and all will find it adapted to their various wants better than any book published.

PENS! PENS!!
GET THE BEST!
THE BEST IS THE CHEAPEST!
C. BARNARD'S
Celebrated "Corrugated Metal" Pens
ARE FOR SALE
AT LEWIS BOOK STORE,
Agent for the county.
PRICES—25 cts. per dozen or $2 per gross.

THE "CORRUGATED METAL" PENS, made by C. BARNARD, are the best Commercial and School Pens, without exception to any.—They are used by all the principal Banks and Government Departments, Public and Private Schools; also, by the most prominent Commercial Houses throughout the United tates and Canada.
But a short time has elapsed since
C. BARNARD'S PENS
have been introduced into the United States, still a marked preference is given them over all others for the following reasons: The "Corrugated Metal" PENS do not corrode; they will not splatter or cut through the thinnest paper; they have an easy gliding motion, a certainty of equally diffusing the ink, softness of point, and great durability.
The following testimonials, selected from numerous others, are respectfully submitted:

I have used the Metallic Pens of Mr. C. Barnard and highly approve of them. C. BARSTOW,
President of St. Nicholas Bank, New York.

We have used the Pens of Mr. Barnard, and find them to be as he represents, and take pleasure in recommending them to the public. WELL, FARGO & CO.,
A. MULLIGAN, Cashier.

C. Barnard's Pens have been tried, and are highly approved in this office. S. G. OGDEN,
Auditor U. S. Custom House, New York.

Having tried the corrugated Pens made by Mr. Barnard, I can recommend them as excellent.
SAMUEL L. BREES E,
Commandant Navy Yard, Brooklyn.

We add ours to above recommendations.
H. B. CROMWELL & CO., New York.

I have no hesitation in saying Barnard's Pens are decidedly the best I have ever used. C. HAY, Agent United States Express Co., New York.

We can confidently recommend Mr. C. Barnard's Anti Corrosive Pens as the best ever brought under our notice without exception.
WILKINSON, TETON & CO.,
Park Place, New York.
T. B. HUGHE, Cashier.

We have been using the Pens of Mr. C. Barnard, and take great pleasure in recommending them to the public, as they are an excellent article, and all he represents them to be. A. J. CLINTON,
Secretary Eagle Insurance Co., New York.

Upon trial we have found Mr. Barnard's Pens to be excellent. FRED, PROBT & CO., New York.

I would recommend Mr. Barnard's Pens as a superior article to any I have used.
GOUVR. KEMBLE, New York.

We add ours to the above recommendations.
UNDERHILL, HAVILAND & CO., New York.

Of all Pens I have ever used, Mr. Barnard's have given me more satisfaction, and I can recommend them to the public as being entirely anti-corrosive.
E. POIRER, New York.

After six months' constant use of C. Barnard's Anti-Corrosive Pen, we can confidently recommend it as the best metallic pen we have ever used, finding from the above experience that it does not actually corrode.
McLEAN & CO., New York.
